Does Australia need a Carbon Tax? That is the question of the moment! And it will be the topic of debate at the 2011 Property Council of Australia World Environment Day Breakfast on Friday 3rd June.

Leading representatives from the business and property sectors will argue the negative implications a Carbon Tax will have on the property industry, jobs and ultimately the Australian economy.

Experts in the science of climate change and conservation will argue that a Carbon Tax is indeed necessary. Join us for what will be a lively and interesting debate.
